Dear Friends and Neighbors

I think Mother Nature skipped by Spring and landed us in the middle of Summer. Larry, our clubhouse manager and the ladies have many fun and tasty events planned for all of us. Please take a minute and browse the calendar in this edition of the Village Newspaper for more information.

Our Friday Family Fun Nights have not been well attended. Although the food is always delicious, kudos to our resident chef, Tiffany, the current cost of food has been difficult to maneuver. Where can you go out for dinner, dessert and beverages, including wine and beer, for $7.00? Nowhere.

We are currently working on a change. Our weekly dinners will be biweekly starting March?

The price will remain the same and hopefully we will be able to provide entertainment. Hopefully, more residents will participate.

The Friday night dinners start at 6:00 pm. If you could, please call the clubhouse and let them know that you will be attending. This will help us with our grocery costs. This is not necessary, however, it sure helps the staff to prepare enough food for all. Guests are invited for a cost of $12.00

More information about our monthly events is printed within the Village Newspaper.

March 8th is our annual "Parking Lot Sale". Please call the clubhouse for more information. You can participate by selling your wares or just stroll through the parking lot and shop your heart away.

On May 3rd we will have the Kentucky Derby Party. Start preparing your hat for the Best Kentucky Derby Hat Contest. A Mexican feast is planned on May 2nd to celebrate Cinco de Mayo.

It's been a year since we started publishing the Village Newspaper? Please, let us know if you are enjoying all the information we are sharing with you. Our staff and our board are working hard to bring you the latest and greatest village news. It is a labor of love.

I would like to wish everyone a Very Happy Easter and Passover.

I hope to see you at the clubhouse! Please remember to be kind to one another. A little kindness goes a long way. Until next month, stay safe and well.

When is St. Patrick's Day? Why we celebrate with PUBS, PINTS and SHAMROCKS?

Shamrocks, green clothing and a trip to a pub for a pint of Guinness. The bold may even put on a “Kiss me, I’m Irish” shirt. For many of us, St. Patrick’s Day boils down to the tropes.

While St. Patrick’s Day is not recognized as a federal holiday in the U.S., it gives both Irish and non-Irish Americans a themed reason to celebrate. It is a national holiday in Ireland, and while the celebration kicks off tourist season now, 40 years ago, the day was marked with religious observations that even closed down bars.

American celebrations of St. Patrick’s Day have morphed the occasion into the festive bar crawl that is seen today, however the rich history behind this day of laughter and libations that shan’t be forgotten in the surge of shamrocks and drunken shanties.

When is St. Patrick’s Day?

St. Patrick’s Day, the feast day of the patron saint of Ireland, falls on March 17 every year. In 2025, March 17 is a Monday.

Who was Saint Patrick?

Saint Patrick wasn’t Irish – he was born in Britain near the end of the fourth century and was taken prisoner by Irish raiders when he was 16. He spent six years in captivity in Ireland, according to the History Channel, where he eventually became a devout Christian.

According to Patrick’s writing, he believed God’s voice spoke to him in a dream and told him to leave Ireland – and he escaped. Later, in another dream, he wrote that an angel had told him to return to Ireland as a missionary, and he became a priest after 15 years of study.

While many believe St. Patrick was responsible for bringing Christianity to Ireland, the History Channel reports his mission was to minister to existing Irish Christians as well as convert non-Christians.

He became a significant figure in Ireland in part because he chose to incorporate traditional Irish culture and ritual into his practice, like merging the sun (an existing Irish symbol) with the traditional cross to create the famed Celtic cross.

Why do we celebrate St. Patrick’s Day?

Ireland and neighbors across the pond have commemorated Saint Patrick since the ninth or 10th century, according to the History Channel.

St. Patrick was never canonized by the Catholic Church but has enjoyed longstanding historical popularity. Saint Patrick died on March 17, 461, which later became the day we celebrate him and the Irish.

America’s first St. Patrick’s Day celebration was in 1600 in the Spanish colony of present-day St. Augustine, Florida. Spanish colonial records mentioned a celebration for Saint Patrick in 1600 and the first known St. Patrick’s Day parade was held on March 17, 1601.

The tale of Saint Patrick likely traveled from Ireland to the Americas in the 16th century by way of Richard Arthur, a priest in St. Augustine and an Irish soldier, The Washington Post reported. Records of St. Patrick celebrations died with Arthur, but additional records show Irish soldiers in the English military marched in celebration of Saint Patrick in Boston in 1737 and New York City in 1762.

Decades of growing Irish patriotism resulted in Irish Aid societies and annual parades of bagpipes and drums. They united to form one official New York City St. Patrick’s Day Parade in 1848, according to the History Channel.

While rowdy celebrations occurred in the U.S., Irish laws mandated pubs be closed on St. Patrick’s Day until the 1970s. In 1995, the Irish government began campaigning for bigger March 17 celebrations to drive tourism.

Patrick’s legacy continued in the U.S., particularly in areas with large groups of Irish immigrants. St. Patrick’s Cathedral in New York City is one of the most recognizable churches in the country and was “created to affirm the ascendance of religious freedom and tolerance,” according to the Cathedral’s site.

HONEY GARLIC PORK CHOPS

INGREDIENTS

- Pork chops: 4 boneless about 1-inch thick
- Salt and pepper: to taste
- Olive oil or unsalted butter: 2 tablespoons for frying
- Garlic: 4 cloves minced
- Honey: 1/3 cup
- Soy sauce: 2 tablespoons use low sodium if preferred
- Apple cider vinegar or lemon juice: 1 tablespoon for acidity
- Chicken broth or water: 1/4 cup for deglazing
- Optional garnishes: Chopped parsley red pepper flakes, or sesame seeds

INSTRUCTIONS

1. Prepare the Pork Chops:

- Season both sides of the pork chops with salt and pepper. Let them sit at room temperature for about 15-20 minutes before cooking to ensure even cooking.

2. Cook the Pork Chops:

- Heat olive oil or butter in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Once hot, add the pork chops. Cook for about 4-5 minutes on each side, or until they’re golden brown and cooked through (internal temperature should reach 145°F or 63°C). Remove the pork chops from the skillet and set aside on a plate.

3. Make the Honey Garlic Sauce:

- In the same skillet, reduce the heat to medium. Add the minced garlic and sauté for about 30 seconds or until fragrant.
- Stir in the honey, soy sauce, and apple cider vinegar (or lemon juice). Cook and stir for a minute to combine the flavors.
- Pour in the chicken broth (or water) to deglaze the pan, scraping up any browned bits from the bottom of the skillet. Allow the sauce to simmer for 2-3 minutes, or until slightly thickened.

4. Return the Pork Chops to the Skillet:

- Add the cooked pork chops back into the skillet, spooning the honey garlic sauce over them. Cook for another 1-2 minutes, ensuring the pork chops are well coated and heated through.

5. Serve:

- Serve the pork chops hot, garnished with chopped parsley, red pepper flakes, or sesame seeds if desired. The honey garlic sauce makes a delicious glaze for the pork chops and can also be served over rice or vegetables for a complete meal.

The idea dates back to 1895—and has been controversial ever since.

Many think that daylight saving time was conceived to give farmers an extra hour of sunlight to till their fields, but this is a common misconception. In fact, farmers have long been opposed to springing forward and falling back, since it throws off their usual harvesting schedule.

The real reasons for daylight saving are based on energy conservation and a desire to match daylight hours to the times when most people are awake. The idea dates back to 1895 when entomologist George Vernon Hudson unsuccessfully proposed an annual two-hour time shift to the Royal Society of New Zealand.

Ten years later, the British construction magnate William Willett picked up where Hudson left off when he argued that the United Kingdom should adjust their clocks by 80 minutes each spring and fall to give people more time to enjoy daytime recreation. Willett was a tireless advocate of what he called "Summer Time," but his idea never made it through Parliament.

The first real experiments with daylight saving time began during World War I. On April 30, 1916, Germany and Austria implemented a one-hour clock shift to conserve electricity needed for the war effort. The United Kingdom and several other European nations adopted daylight saving shortly after that, and the United States followed suit in 1918. (While Germany and Austria were the first countries to implement daylight savings, the first towns to implement a seasonal time shift were Port Arthur and Fort William, Canada in 1908.)

Most Americans only saw the time adjustment as a wartime act, and it was later repealed in 1919. Standard time ruled until 1942, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt re-instituted daylight saving during World War II. This time, more states continued using daylight saving after the conflict ended, but for decades there was little consistency with regard to its schedule. Finally, in 1966, Congress passed the Uniform Time Act, which standardized daylight saving across the country and established its start and end times in April and October (later changed to March and November in 2007).
